FRIGHTENED BY AUTO.

Horse Leaped Over Embankment to Death at West Brattleboro.

Brattleboro, May 1.—With a broken shaft penetrating two feet into its side a horse owned and driven by Frank C. Davis of this village jumped over an embankment near West Brattleboro yesterday and died in a short time.

The horse which was attached to a lumber wagon, became started at the sound of an automobile approaching in the rear and started to run. Edward C. Crosby, a contractor, was running the automobile and, as soon as he saw that the horse was frightened, he stopped the machine.

The horse slipped on the street railroad track and fell, breaking a shaft, which entered its side and cut an artery. Then the animal dashed over the embankment, the wagon coming in contact with a tree and throwing Mr. Davis several feet without hurting him.

Several teamsters, who saw the accident, said that Mr. Crosby was not at fault.

TRIAL OF PRIZE FIGHTERS.

Britt and McGovern Are Being Hauled Over the Coals.

New York, June 1.—The hearing in the cases of James J. Britt and Terry McGovern, pugilists, and 14 other persons, arrested after a boxing match in Madison Square Gardens before the Twentieth Century athletic club, went on yesterday, but was not completed. Deputy Police Commissioner Mathot, one of the complainants, declared:

"I am trying to prove that there is absolutely no Twentieth Century athletic club as we understand the name. I do admit that there is such a club regularly incorporated, however, which had nothing to do with any of the men here."

Police Commissioner Bingham declared that the police have made 110 arrests for prize fighting since January 1 and 21 arrests for aiding and abetting prize fighting. He said that most of the cases had been turned out of court, and that the whole trouble seems to arise mainly over the interpretation of the law by the lower courts.

DIED IN RELIEF HOSPITAL.

Demise of Miss Freeborne, a Noted Sculptor.

Boston, June 1.—Miss Sarah Freeborne, one of the best known women man sculptors of Europe and formerly a portrait painter of note in New York state, died at the Relief hospital in this city last night.

Miss Freeborne arrived here yesterday on the White Star line steamship Romanic, after having been abroad for seventeen years, to spend the summer. While in the Park street subway station yesterday afternoon she was stricken with uremia, and was removed in an unconscious condition to the hospital.

Dr. J. C. Bell of Wellsley college, who accompanied Miss Freeborne, said that the woman was born in Hudson, N. Y., 47 years ago, and previous to her departure for Europe she had done portrait and miniature painting of many New York people. Ten years ago, after considerable study in Florence, Italy, and in Egypt, she took up the art of sculpture and became well known in Europe. She had returned here to settle financial affairs, and was said to have been a woman of wealth. Her relatives are not known here.

On Its Own Merits

This season finds the "Dorothy Dodd" Oxfords in the field with a host of new and clever ideas, interpreted with such consummate skill and perfection of fine detail that, particularly in the "bench made" models, their resemblance to the high-grade, high-priced product of the custom bootmaker is stronger than ever. The "Dorothy Dodd" Shoe has won its way to the front solely on its own merits. Its reputation is now international. Why not try a pair?
